

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Deposited cash is housed in a recycling housing portion after designating a sector defining whether or not withdrawal will be possible, amount data relating to the deposited amount being managed by counters based on the designated management sector, amount data relating to an amount withdrawn being managed by the counters when cash housed in the recycling housing portion is withdrawn based on a withdrawal instruction, and at least a portion of the cash housed in the recycling housing portion being conveyed to and housed in a cassette housing portion based on a transfer instruction input via a depositing and dispensing control panel.